

Singapore's First Official Gamers' Association (SGGA) Gets A Kick-start with Webvisions as Hosting Partner

Client Fact File

Client/Company Background	Singapore Gaming & Gamers' Association (SGGA) SGGA was formed in 2004 to assist in the coordination and registration of gamers and local gaming communities. SGGA also helps develop the gaming industry by providing research and other benefits for active gamers in Singapore.
The Challenge	As the first of its kind, with future expansion plans, SGGA.net needed a hosting provider that could help the website scale up.

Objectives of SGGA.net

The SGGA website serves as a consolidated portal where the latest news and relevant updates on the gaming industry is featured and analyzed. Gamers and gaming clans may also register themselves through the portal.

Serving the Needs of SGGA.net

Webvisions' stable and reliable platform enabled SGGA.net to reach out to our target users. According to Mr Chris Soh, Chairman of SGGA, it is important for SGGA, as the association representing gamers' communities, to communicate with gamers without having to worry about the daily back-end management of bandwidth and connectivity. By hosting with Webvisions, SGGA benefited from the experience of Webvisions and its stable network infrastructure.

"By hosting with Webvisions, we capitalize on the experience of Webvisions to provide us with the infrastructural support we need so that we can concentrate on our mission critical activities," said Mr Soh.

Through SGGA.net, local gamers and clans are able to register themselves online in order to access member benefits, gaming industry updates and offers.

Choosing Webvisions

As Webvisions had a ten-year track record and extensive experience in the area of web-hosting, SGGA was confident that Webvisions could provide SGGA.net with the essentials, yet at the same time offer additional options that will cater to the portal's future growth.

"After reviewing the available hosting packages, we felt that Webvisions provides the best value in the service offerings compared to other providers," Mr Soh revealed.

"For a fledgling portal like ours, it is crucial that we start-off on the right note. When we asked around, Webvisions was always recommended by many different quarters," Mr Soh added.

Criteria for Choosing a Web Host

Mr Soh revealed that the SGGA committee looked at stability and reliability versus costs which are key factors when choosing a hosting partner.

Also important is the technical service. The shifting of servers can be a painful process and that's where the post sales support really counts. Webvisions scores full points in this aspect for making SGGA.net's migration surprisingly smooth and trouble-free.

"For a fledgling association like ours, it is crucial that we start-off on the right note. When we asked around, Webvisions was recommended by many different quarters. Naturally, we took their reputation and proven track record into consideration."
